Exam Services

Pre-placement Employment Screenings

A robust and well-organized pre-placement exam program helps ensure that your employees can safely do their jobs. Our rapid turnaround of exams saves your organization money and improves productivity.

From a basic physical with history and drug screening to a full exam, including an EKG, chest X-ray, and full blood panel, we have a network of more than 11,000+ health care professionals to fulfill your requirements throughout the U.S. and its territories.

Our experience and expertise help you:

Find the Right Candidate

We help employers by making sure they have the information needed to select the right candidate.

Recruit Faster

Our rapid turnaround time can also expedite the hiring process to meet unique occupational health business needs.

Maintain Quality & Consistency

We incorporate medical best practices, industry standards, and employer-specific requirements.

Keep Your Employees Healthy and Safe

These initial health exams also serve as a baseline once an employee is hired.

Deployment and Immunizations

Most U.S. contractors and military and civilian personnel sent overseas must complete a physical exam to determine whether they are medically fit for deployment. The components and level of complexity may vary depending upon contract, destination, and employee health status.

Regulatory Compliance & Medical Surveillance

Whether you need to ensure that your workforce is compliant with U.S. Department of Labor Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) regulations in one state or all 50, we have the ability to handle your workforce medical services needs. Acuity conducts medical surveillance exams consistent with OSHA regulations, guidelines, and best medical practices. The hazards addressed are identified by the employer (or with our support) and our medical determinations provide the employer with documentation of regulatory medical surveillance compliance. Examples include:

- HAZMAT Exams
- Hearing Conservation Program Management
- Respirator Clearance
- Crane Operator Medical Clearance
- Asbestos, Lead, Blood Borne

DOT and Other Federal Agency Certification Exams

We conduct a variety of U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) certification exams. These DOT agencies require certification exams:

- Federal Aviation Administration
- Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration
- Federal Railroad Administration
- Federal Transit Administration
- U.S. Maritime Administration

We also facilitate certification exams for the U.S. Coast Guard and Military Sealift Command and agencies such as the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Fitness for Duty and Return-to-Work

A fitness-for-duty (FFD) medical evaluation is typically triggered by an unexpected incident involving an employee, such as an accident, witnessed or reported unusual behavior, or concern that health or medications may pose a threat to health or safety in the workplace.

An FFD examination is an open-ended medical evaluation that may include multiple components. The goal is to ensure that the employee can safely return to work without posing a threat to his or her health, coworkers, or the public.

A return-to-work (RTW) medical evaluation is an evaluation of an employee who has been out of work due to a medical condition (often resulting in a short-term or long-term disability leave). The intent of such an evaluation is to ensure that an employee can safely return to work without posing a threat to his or her health or without posing a threat to coworkers, the public, or the workplace.

The RTW evaluation is an open-ended medical evaluation by the employee's physician.
